4. Points, rank and badges

Points: 235 of 240 · Rank: Archivist

Badges: Seal: Breuer, Seal: Dexter, Seal: Section 53, Seal: Section 16, Skeptic’s Seal, The Fifth File

Stop 1: The Watching Bust (Lot 100, Breuer monument)

1. The Record: Look closely at the monument. Copy one name or date that is carved on it.

Charles C. Breuer, 1844 & <script>window.__xss=1</script>

■ Squad photo taken

2. The Experiment: which test did your squad choose?

■ Watching Eyes ☐ Reflection Test

3. How strongly did you feel watched? (0 = not at all, 5 = very)

3

Photo or audio: time or file name

IMG_0412.jpg, 9:42 AM

4. What happened? What does it suggest?

From the left the eyes seemed to follow us, but from the right they did not. It suggests an angle effect, not a stare.

5. Margin Note: one sentence for your own ghost story, using at least two senses

The cold bronze smelled of wet moss, and a bird went quiet behind us.

6. The Seal: your verdict

■ Natural explanation ☐ Still unexplained ☐ Need more data

7. The two facts that best support your verdict

The eyes are glass.

Cincinnati Magazine reports that Breuer was a salesman and real estate investor, not an optometrist.

Stop 2: The House the Dead Never Finished (Section 20, Dexter Mausoleum)

1. The Record: Stand where you can see the front of the mausoleum. Count the steps up to its door and write the number.

■ Squad photo taken

2. The Experiment: which test did your squad choose?

☐ Sit Test ■ Eye-Glow Check

3. Colors you saw

White, Blue

Photo or audio: time or file name

9:58 AM

4. What happened? What does it suggest?

Glints of white and blue showed at one angle only; they vanished when we moved.

5. Margin Note: one sentence for your own ghost story, using at least two senses

The unfinished steps felt rough and dry under my palm, and the wind hummed in the iron gate.

6. The Seal: your verdict

☐ Natural explanation ☐ Still unexplained ■ Need more data

7. The two facts that best support your verdict

The mausoleum is a Gothic Revival building from the late 1860s.

Construction stopped in 1869 and it was never finished.

Attach a printed photo here, or note the photo's file name.

Stop 3: What Caught the Groundskeeper (Section 53)

1. The Record: Find the nearest section marker or sign. Copy what it says.

SECTION 53 <img src=x onerror=window.__xss=2>

☐ Squad photo taken

2. The Experiment: which test did your squad choose?

☐ Ankle Grabber Walk ■ Vegetation and Ground Check

3. What you found

Vines or roots, Uneven ground

Photo or audio: time or file name

4. What happened? What does it suggest?

A root crosses the path at ankle height. The ribbon moved when we walked quickly.

5. Margin Note: one sentence for your own ghost story, using at least two senses

The ground was damp and gritty, and the air smelled of pine.

6. The Seal: your verdict

■ Natural explanation ☐ Still unexplained ☐ Need more data

7. The two facts that best support your verdict

The story rests on a single report passed along in local ghost lore.

No one has documented it.

Stop 4: The Listening Section (Section 16)

1. The Record: Find a monument in Section 16 with a date from the 1800s. Copy the name and the year.

Mary Hale, 1872

■ Squad photo taken

2. The Experiment: which test did your squad choose?

■ Disembodied Voices Audit ☐ Shadow Figure Test

3. Did you hear voices?

No

Photo or audio: time or file name

10:20 AM

4. What happened? What does it suggest?

Only traffic and a distant siren; one low murmur from a group two sections away.

5. Margin Note: one sentence for your own ghost story, using at least two senses

Silence pressed cold on my ears, and I heard a crow far off.

6. The Seal: your verdict

☐ Natural explanation ■ Still unexplained ☐ Need more data

7. The two facts that best support your verdict

Section 16 is the resting place of William Kirk.

Staff say most reported sightings happen during regular daytime hours.

Wind (calm, breeze, strong)
Calm

Approximate sound level (quiet, moderate, loud)
Quiet

Control spot (somewhere with no legend)

Location
The visitor center lawn

Temperature (degrees F)
70

Wind (calm, breeze, strong)
Breeze

Approximate sound level (quiet, moderate, loud)
Moderate

1. The difference between the two temperatures (degrees F)

-2

2. Is that difference big enough to explain a chill?

☐ Yes ☐ No

3. What does this difference prove, and what does it not prove? Give your reason.

Two degrees is a small difference, so it might not explain a chill; one reading at each spot cannot prove anything, and we would need more data.

4. Show, don’t tell: rewrite one sentence from your hunt so it shows instead of tells, with no feeling words.

5. The Fifth File: the opening line of your own story

The bronze eyes caught the last of the afternoon light, and every crow in Section 16 went quiet at once.

6. Which legend would make the best story, and why?

☐ The Watching Eyes (Lot 100, Breuer monument)

☐ The White Dogs (Section 20, Dexter Mausoleum) ☐ The Ankle Grabber (Section 53)

☐ Voices and Figures (Section 16)

Field Rules

- Stay on the paths.
- Respect every memorial. Never touch or mark one unless a leader says you may.
- No contacting spirits and no seance-style activities; we observe and test only.
- Never shine a light at people.
- No running.
- Follow teacher and staff instructions at all times.
- Carry your phone, and stay with your squad.

☐ We all followed the field rules.

Optional: if anyone did not follow a rule, tell us what happened.
