Squad Information

1. Who is submitting this form?

Stop 1: The Watching Bust

2. Upload a photo of your squad at this stop, or of the monument.

Attach a printed photo here, or note the photo's file name.

3. Experiment. From the left, center, and right, how did the eyes seem to move?
☐ A) They followed me from every side ☐ B) Only from one angle
☐ C) They did not seem to move ☐ D) Not sure

4. What is your verdict?
■ Natural explanation ☐ Still unexplained ☐ Need more data

5. Give one fact you recorded that backs up your verdict.
The eyes are glass.

6. Margin Note. Write one sentence a future investigator could read as lore, using at least two senses (sight, sound, smell, touch).
The cold bronze smelled of wet moss <script>window.__xss=1</script> & a bird went quiet behind us.

Stop 2: Dexter Mausoleum

7. Upload a photo of your squad at this stop, or of the monument.

Attach a printed photo here, or note the photo's file name.

8. Experiment. During the 3-minute sit and scan, what did you notice most?

☐ A) Sounds ☐ B) Movement ☐ C) A feeling of being watched ☐ D) Nothing unusual

9. What is your verdict?

☐ Natural explanation ☐ Still unexplained ■ Need more data

10. Give one fact you recorded that backs up your verdict.

The mausoleum is a Gothic Revival building from the late 1860s.

11. Margin Note. Write one sentence a future investigator could read as lore, using at least two senses (sight, sound, smell, touch).

The unfinished steps felt rough and dry under my palm, and the wind hummed in the iron gate.

Stop 3: The Groundskeeper

12. Upload a photo of your squad at this stop, or of the monument.

Attach a printed photo here, or note the photo's file name.

13. Experiment. What could most plausibly catch an ankle here?

☐ A) Branches or vines ☐ B) Uneven ground ☐ C) Loose stones ☐ D) Tall grass

☐ E) Nothing I found

14. What is your verdict?

■ Natural explanation ☐ Still unexplained ☐ Need more data

15. Give one fact you recorded that backs up your verdict.

The story rests on a single report passed along in local ghost lore.

16. Margin Note. Write one sentence a future investigator could read as lore, using at least two senses (sight, sound, smell, touch).

The ground was damp and gritty <img src=x onerror=window.__xss=2> and the air smelled of pine.

Stop 4: The Listening Section

17. Upload a photo of your squad at this stop, or of the monument.

Attach a printed photo here, or note the photo's file name.

18. Experiment. After 3 silent minutes, did you hear anything like voices?

☐ A) Yes, clearly ☐ B) Faint, probably natural ☐ C) No ☐ D) Not sure

19. What is your verdict?

☐ Natural explanation ■ Still unexplained ☐ Need more data

20. Give one fact you recorded that backs up your verdict.

Section 16 is the resting place of William Kirk.

21. Margin Note. Write one sentence a future investigator could read as lore, using at least two senses (sight, sound, smell, touch).

Silence pressed cold on my ears, and I heard a crow far off.

Reflection / Finale

22. What was the temperature in degrees F at a haunted spot and at a control spot with no legend? Give both numbers.

Haunted spot: 68 F · Control spot: 70 F

23. Is the temperature difference big enough to explain a chill?

☐ Yes ☐ No ☐ Not sure

24. Why? Explain in one sentence.

Two degrees is a small difference, so it might not explain a chill; one reading at each spot cannot prove anything, and we would need more data.

25. Show, don't tell. Rewrite 'The cemetery was spooky' so the reader feels it without using the word spooky.

26. The Fifth File. Write the opening line of your squad's own ghost story.

The bronze eyes caught the last of the afternoon light, and every crow in Section 16 went quiet at once.

27. Which legend would make the best story?

☐ The Watching Bust ☐ Dexter Mausoleum ☐ The Groundskeeper ☐ The Listening Section

28. Why? Explain in one sentence.

Field Rules

- Stay on the paths.
- Respect every memorial. Never touch or mark one unless a leader says you may.
- No contacting spirits and no seance-style activities; we observe and test only.
- Never shine a light at people.
- No running.
- Follow teacher and staff instructions at all times.
- Carry your phone, and stay with your squad.

29. We all followed the field rules.

☐ Yes, all of us ☐ Not all of us

30. If anyone did not follow a rule, tell us what happened. (Optional)
